

e-Learning

Our e-Learning modules provide a comprehensive training solution to educate employees about the risks and threats facing your organisation. Through a combination of interactive modules and clear guidance, best practice advice is delivered to your workforce before assessing their understanding and providing feedback. We currently have six modules covering a variety of security topics, each of which can be tailored to include individual policy content relevant to your organisation, for example, information classification and password management.

The benefits

The e-Learning tool:

- Enables users to progress through a selection of quizzes, surveys and interactive slides in a highly intuitive way.
- Can be tailored to reflect your security and training objectives; learning, compliance, certification, knowledge assessment.
- Articulate Presenter 2009™ saves your content in the universally accepted Flash format, allowing it to run on most web servers and Learning Management Systems (LMS).
- Enables you to easily track results on your LMS via SCORM (Sharable Content Object Reference Model) and AICC (The Aviation Industry CBT (computer-based training) Committee).
- Allows you to customise your project to align it with corporate brand guidelines including layout and navigation options.
- Provides a flexible solution to delivering consistent security messages to geographically diverse audiences.

The structure

Our e-Learning material currently contains six security themes:

- using your computer securely
- understanding classifications
- using email and internet securely
- working securely away from the office
- working with external parties
- reporting security incidents

The e-Learning tool is easily integrated with a number of other products in our portfolio.

The platform and its capabilities

Our e-Learning courses are delivered using Articulate™ and have been translated into a number of languages.

Articulate™ offers the following capabilities:

- The ability to design and tailor content in line with your corporate branding and learning requirements.
- The provision to create additional modules on specific themes where required.
- The option to build e-Learning course content for specific audiences.
- The ability for the user to gain feedback and review answers.
- The option to link back to other tools within our portfolio for further advice.
- The ability to link activities with your Learning Management System (LMS) enabling printed certification for the user.
- An annual update to refresh employees on their security responsibilities.

Other features

Articulate™ Quizmaker:

Challenges and engages your users through a wide variety of questions, including drag-and-drop questions and security hotspots.

Articulate™ Engage:

Provides the ability to produce engaging interactions to positively stimulate employee learning and encourage behavioural change.

The results

Our e-Learning course provides a professional, interactive training package that enables you to reach your audience easily.

It provides an engaging learning experience that is proved to change behaviour in the long term.

Analysis of the data provides valuable, up-to-date reporting on the effectiveness of your security education programme – at employee, department or organisation level. This will enable you to demonstrate return on investment and develop your education programme through effective understanding of employee knowledge and behaviour.
